All Out of Town

Full of hope and energy, the young reporter was sent to the suburbs to write an account of a fire that was alleged to be raging there.

As a matter of fact, the fire was so small that it had been put out in three and a quarter minutes, and the fire brigade had gone home long ago.

Still, the reporter was as persevering as he was inexperienced, so he approached the house cheerily and knocked upon the door.

Mr. Yaights in? he asked hopefully of the handmaiden who answered his summons.

No, came the reply; he's out. Mrs. Yaights?

No, she's out also. Well, said the cub reporter, we were informed that you have a fire here, and I've come to report—

Oh, that's out too! snapped the maiden, as she gently closed the door.

'Tis a Marvellous Thing.—When the cures effected by Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil are considered, the speedy and permanent relief it has brought to the suffering wherever it has been used, it must be regarded as a marvellous thing that so potent a medicine should result from the six ingredients which enter into its composition. A trial will convince the most skeptical of its healing virtues.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS PROVING THEIR VALUE AS A FAMILY MEDICINE

Quebec Man Tells How They Helped Him and Cured His Nephew of Kidney Disease.

South Ham, Wolfe Co., Que. (Special).—There is fresh proof every day that as a family medicine Dodd's Kidney Pills are growing in favor with the people of Quebec. Just to quote an example, Amable Pinard of this place says, in an interview:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills helped my rheumatism, backache, gravel, and heart disease, from which I suffered for twenty years.

"They have not yet cured me completely, but they did completely cure my nephew, who suffered from kidney disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure kidney disease. They will complete Amable Pinard's cure, because all the diseases mentioned are the results of kidney disease. They cured the young man's kidney disease quickly, because it was taken in its early stages. Amable Pinard's troubles are of twenty years' standing and take a longer treatment.

The moral is, that if you cure your kidney disease early with Dodd's Kidney Pills, you will never be troubled with rheumatism, gravel, and other diseases that are caused by sick kidneys failing to do their work.

YOUR BABY'S SKIN

Is the most delicate fabric in the world. You may cause it permanent harm by using poisonous mineral ointments for the little rashes and eruptions that every baby suffers from occasionally. Don't take any chances. Use Zam-Buk, the baby's best balm.

Zam-Buk is made from fine herbal extracts, and is free from any harmful poisonous coloring matter. Like the grasses and the flowers, nature has colored it green. It is nature's own healer!

Most ointments and salves have, as their foundation, various animal oils and fats. Zam-Buk does not contain one atom of animal substance. Most ointments and salves are too coarse to be absorbed by the tender delicate skin of a baby, and remain on the skin an irritating mass. Just put a little Zam-Buk on baby's skin, and see how soon it is absorbed, showing conclusively that the pores of the skin are greedy for it.

Use nothing but Zam-Buk for baby's skin troubles and wash with Zam-Buk Soap.

Zam-Buk should also be used for cuts, burns, scalds, eczema, piles, ulcers, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful substitutes and imitations.

Reduced in Flesh Sleepless Nights

Kidney Disease and Gravel Caused Keenest Suffering—Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. W. Smith.

That diseases of the kidneys cause the greatest suffering is well known, and when stone or gravel is formed in the bladder the torture is almost beyond human endurance.

The disease should never be allowed to reach this dangerous stage. Pains in the small of the back, pain or smarting when passing water, frequent urination, loss of flesh and weight tell of the need of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to regulate and invigorate the kidneys and restore these organs to health.

Mr. W. Smith, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—"For some years I was afflicted with kidney disease and gravel in its most severe form, having often a stoppage of water, accompanied by the most dreadful agony. As the disease wore on me I became reduced in flesh and passed sleepless nights. No doctor was able to do much for me, and I used many medicines without obtaining more than temporary relief. My attention was directed to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and by using this treatment the disease was eradicated from my system in less than six months. I have gained in weight, sleep well, and feel better than I have for twenty years."

Of course you know the story of the Irishman who was painting a fence and who worked for all he was worth in order that he might get his job finished before the paint gave out.

It was one of those jokes our grandmothers laughed at before our grandfathers bought razors.

The hero again, is an Irishman, but this time not a painter. Oh, no, a chauffeur driving his master home from the country late one evening.

The nearer the car approached the town the faster it went until, when about ten miles out, it was travelling at something like fifty miles an hour.

Steady, man, steady! cried the master to his servant. If you go on like this we shall get held up by the police.

But the Irishman set his lips firmly, made the car go faster still, then blazed:

We're still nine miles from home, sir, and I've only enough petrol for three. If we hurry we may just do it.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish at one of her beautiful dinners in New York, said of a woman whose daughters had all married well:

A woman like that hates to lose her daughters—and yet—well, I suppose her feelings are pretty well expressed by the homely story of the washer-woman.

A washerwoman whose five girls had married well was left all alone with her old husband, but she said philosophically about the girls' loss: I misses 'em and I wants 'em; but golly, I misses 'em more'n I wants 'em.

Smoke Cured

To be strictly accurate, it was not a smoking compartment at all, but the youth was puffing away at a chubby briar despite the pained expression on the old lady's face.

By-and-by the old lady, who was the only other occupant of the carriage, began to get excited.

"Young man," she barked, so far as her coughing would permit her, "do you know that it's wrong to smoke?"

"Well," replied the lad, as he enveloped the old party in a wreath of pungent smoke, "I use tobacco for my health."

"Health!" ejaculated the victim in spluttering tones. "Nonsense! You never heard of anyone being cured by smoking."

"Yes, I have," declared the youth, still puffing away like a furnace chimney. "That's the way they cure pigs." "Then smoke away," cried the heroine of the story. "There may be hope for you yet."

Must Improve Live Stock Production

What is to be done in order to build up the meat industry of Canada? There will be little use for abattoirs if the farmers do not raise animals to slaughter therein, and the question is now not so much how can we export our surplus meat, but rather how can we import enough meat to feed ourselves.

Canada, like other growing countries, is already facing a shortage in meat supply. The population is rapidly increasing, whereas the supply of cattle, sheep and hogs is decreasing rapidly. In several provinces the actual number of cattle, sheep and hogs is less than five years ago. The breaking up of the ranch and range country in the west into small farms has made serious inroads into the supply of beef and mutton from that territory, and has practically cut off the supply of thin young cattle which formerly were shipped to Ontario to be finished over.

Grain farmers of the western provinces are being urged by experimental farm workers, farmers' institutes, livestock and farm papers to diversify their farming not only for safety as to returns, but as an insurance against the time when fertility will be so depleted that yields of grain will be no longer profitable.

Live stock is a safeguard, not only for the farmer, but would be a big factor in helping to solve the car shortage problem which is so acute every fall. Grain farmers all want to market their grain at the same time and get the money. Sheep and steers can be marketed every day in the year, provide a safe revenue, and distribute the traffic for the transportation companies. There is at present a market in Canada for all live stock produce and for all kinds of smoked meats, lard, ham and bacon, so that the market is here with good prices. As the population increases this market will grow.

One of the greatest drawbacks against more live stock in the west is the fact that Canadian banks are not allowed to accept live stock as collateral for loans, whereas in the United States an enormous and profitable cattle loan business is done by large cattle loaning companies who get behind the beginner in the live stock business and carry them until the returns come in from his investment.

It is generally supposed that the extremely low temperatures which prevail during the winter in the west are absolutely prohibitive of the successful and economical handling of live stock. As a matter of fact, much of the best beef sold in Calgary, Edmonton and Winnipeg this spring was fed out in the open air last winter with no shelter, except a few buildings, and here and there some haystacks or very cheap sheds. Northwest winters are no harder on live stock than the winters of Ontario.

Although the Province of Alberta is unusually well equipped for producing cheaply mutton of the finest quality, large quantities of frozen sheep and lambs are each winter brought in from Australia and New Zealand, in addition to the number of live sheep and lambs driven across the border from Montana and Wyoming.

One thing our farmers and stock raisers should learn is that the home market is the best. The cattle embargo has combined with other causes to make shipping cattle to Liverpool unprofitable. Indeed, several firms, formerly large exporters of cattle, have practically ceased their shipment to England.

Again, the American market is better than the Canadian market, for the Canadian farmer and rancher will almost uniformly get a better price net at Edmonton, Calgary or Winnipeg than he will at Chicago. No more delusive argument was put forward by the advocates of reciprocity than the argument that the Canadian cattle raiser would be benefited by freer access to the American market.

Some western Canadian stockmen have been led by Chicago market reports and rumors of an acute shortage of finished cattle in the United States to ship their finished cattle to the Chicago market. In the case of the first large shipments of cattle made from Alberta to Chicago this fall the market was unusually favorable and entirely abnormal. Cattle for that week touched the highest prices ever known in Chicago stock yards, so that the Alberta cattle being carried along with the current, sold for a few cents a hundred more than they would have brought on the same date at Winnipeg. The success of this shipment led numerous other ranchmen in the west to take a chance on the Chicago market, with the result that in every case, so far as known, the net prices received at Chicago were less than the prices the stock would have netted at Calgary, Edmonton or Winnipeg. Western Canadian prices for beef, mutton and pork are regulated by supply and demand. With the west each year importing larger quantities of meats from eastern Canada, the United States, Australia and New Zealand, it is obvious that prices for finished products in the west must be at least on a parity with prices for those products in other countries from which they are exported.

This general subject will be found discussed at great length in the last annual report issued by Dr. J. G. Rutherford, as veterinary general of the Dominion Government, which was extensively quoted from and commented upon at the time by The World. The general subject of the languishing meat industry of Canada was the subject of a lengthy debate in the house of commons about a year ago, and it is a fair surmise that the present government intends in some way to encourage the industry. Unfortunately, the cold climate of Western Canada and the natural desire of the new settler to get a quick return from his land and pay for his farm as quickly as possible militates against the industry. In the end, however, the farmer who raises some live stock and who feeds his frosted grain will come out ahead, and unquestionably the country as a whole will be greatly benefited by more mixed farming in eastern and western Canada alike. Indeed, the situation is becoming so grave as to demand the earnest and early attention of the Dominion and Provincial governments. Nothing, perhaps will accomplish so much as a campaign of publicity and education, which will convince the western farmer that he will benefit himself and his land by raising live stock. And in this connection it is to be hoped that the government, when revising the Bank Act, will permit loans to be made to the farmer upon the products of his farm, including both grain and live stock.

The lesson cannot be too strongly impressed upon the farmers of the northwest that the growth and prosperity of the live stock and meat business of the country depends upon an ample and steady supply of live stock being furnished to the packers and butchers scattered over the country. Without ample supplies and raw materials these people cannot operate economically, so that it is generally to the benefit and profit of the farmers to keep a steady supply moving forward in order that the home market may be maintained and developed and the best prices established for the live stock grown within the provinces.

A little ugly doubt more than once crept into his mind during the journey. Again and again Lady Anne had urged him to avoid Crayborne. At the beginning of their acquaintance, less than three weeks ago, she had been angered by the mere mention of his name, and made fiercely indignant by his claim to the property. Her recognition of his rights had coincided with the arrival of Reuben Symonds, who was a still more objectionable claimant, and her acceptance of Harry's offer of marriage had been wrong from her by stress of circumstances.

Was it possible that she had made this bargain about the journey to America solely as a pretext for getting rid of him?

Deep down in his heart, Harry cherished a conviction that he would have lost all chance of her by leaving England. The very air of Crayborne seemed alive with his enemies. Father Carey, Lady Clavel, the Anning brothers, Sammy and Stephen Jessop, had all either warned him to fly from the place, or shown their spite and enmity against him in other ways. In London, there was Leopold Sarto perpetually planning mysterious attacks against him, prompted by his own showing, by his passion for Lady Anne.

If he left England, might not all these persons combine against him to thwart the fulfilment of his hopes?

With all his admirable qualities there was a strain of obstinacy in Harry. Having set his heart upon marrying Anne, opposition only strengthened his determination to win her, and as he rang the bell at the lodge of Loders Abbey on that Friday afternoon he was resolved not to leave Crayborne until Anne should have fixed the date for a speedy marriage.

Grammar Jessop opened the gate. Susan was out courten! she informed him, with a mischievous look. And Lady Anne and Lillas had been driven out by George Anning a couple of hours before. George was driving the best horse, and their destination was Vale House, as Miss Morgan's visit was ended and she had gone back to her uncle, Denzil Warne.

I think I will stroll about the grounds and wait to see Lady Anne when she returns, Harry said. Will you let her know I am here, Grammar?

Best teake the train back to London, the little old woman remarked as she peered up at him. 'Tis the zafest place for you, you mid teake my word for't.

But Harry did not heed her, and passed through into the grounds with a nod and a smile. Grammar went back to her arm-chair to doze over her knitting.

Harry was glad that George Anning was absent. He had never entirely got over the disagreeable impression which the man had produced upon him when he interrupted his talk with Lady Anne in the rose garden.

The gardener was a good-looking, clean-shaven man in the early thirties. Mrs. Anning had told Harry on more than one occasion that her husband and her brother-in-law, thought the world of Lady Anne, and Reuben Symonds had given utterance to a violent attack against both men.

Was it possible, Harry had more than once asked himself, that this unseen assailant of the Tuesday night could be George Anning?

Now that Sammy had left the neighborhood, the Annings were the only men likely to make use of the secret passage between the Abbey and the farm. If such a passage still existed, as Harry strongly suspected, and it was within the realms of possibility that Lady Clavel, scolding her nephew's dancer, had traversed it in George Anning's track on the night before the request to give Harry warning, and a necessary, to protect him.

Certainly, the face he had clutched at in the struggle seemed to be of a thinner and smaller type than that of Anning; but Harry realised that the impression made by a countenance under such circumstances was not to be depended upon.

He was turning over these things in his mind as he wandered into Lady Anne's rose garden. The scent of the flowers brought her personality so vividly before him that, without closing his eyes he could almost see her standing as she had stood among the garden lilies by the sun-dial.

The white rose with the delicate pink centre—pure, proud, and pale, hiding all color and feeling from the eyes of the world—that was her symbol, he told himself; but he had the grace to think of his other friend as well, even among his love-images. The crimson rambler, bright-colored, vivid, strenuously alive, decorating bare walls with a small vigorous growth and bringing gaiety to gloomy spots, was the true emblem of Lillas Morgan.

I am sorry that delightful, bright-eyed girl has left, he reflected. I was always glad to think Lady Anne had her sympathetic presence about her. It seems wrong that she should be wasted on that dull Warne household. But when we are married she must be constantly with us, and we will find her the richest and the best husband that can be got—some man who can appreciate her. She would make an ideal wife for a man with a future before him.

He had taken a seat near the sun-dial while he thus planned out Miss Morgan's future. As he leaned back against the wall of the cloisters to light a cigarette he heard his name called in childish accents of delight, and little Edwin Jessop came bounding from the house with golden curls flying, and sprang upon his knee.

Harry, Harry! he cried. I've stolen something! but I dussen use it alone. So I eat on my horse a-thinken, and then Grammar told me you were here. Bend your head, and I'll tell you a secret!

He flung his arms round Harry's neck and whispered in his ear.

It's George's key I've stolen from the pocket of his coat in the stables. What key, Edwin? It's very naughty to steal.

It's a key of the place where the veeries and ghosts live, the child returned in an awestruck whisper. In a cave underneath a hill. You shut your eyes and I'll take you there.

Harry rose and let the child draw him in the direction of the monk's storehouse.

How do you know you have got hold of the right key? he asked.

'Cos I've seen George put it in. And once when I watched on comen out he got very angry, and told me I musen say anything or try to get in the because the ghosts was kept there. I want to see the ghosts, Harry, but I dussen unless you hold my hand. Do you think my dream veeries lives there, too?

Harry was too keenly interested in solving some of the mysteries of Loders Abbey to refuse Edwin's help. No suspicion crossed his mind, as he accompanied the child to the hidden opening of the cellars underneath the mound of grass, that he might be the victim of a trick. Edwin led him to a spot where, he declared, George kept a light, and Harry found a lantern and matches ready for his use.

By their aid he slipped the key into the lock and drew wide open the door which Reuben Symonds had moved by a few inches a week before.

CHAPTER L.

The Dream of Lillas

On Sunday afternoon, Lady Anne sat at her desk in the library, trying to write a letter.

Three times she had begun it, and each time she had decided that her written words did not properly express her meaning. Therefore, the sheets of note-paper were destroyed, but after no careless fashion, being carefully burnt before the charred remnants were consigned to the waste-paper basket. The envelope alone remained untouched. It lay on the desk before her, bearing the name of Henry Clavelworth, and an address in the most fashionable part of New York.

A tap at the door disturbed her from her unsatisfactory task, and Lillas Morgan, in her riding habit, appeared at the open doorway.

My dear child! Lady Anne exclaimed; have you come back to me already? There is nothing wrong at home, I hope?

No, indeed, Lady Anne! You have somehow reduced Uncle Denzil to order. I think he had such a dreadful time while I was away, being persecuted by Mrs. Warne's attentions that he was glad of my chaperonage again. I had some difficulty, though, in getting him to let me ride over on Sunday.

Since there's nothing the matter I am delighted to see you. Would you like tea here, or in the drawing-room? It is too hot to have it in the garden.

I don't think I want any tea, Lillas said slowly. I can't truthfully say that there is nothing wrong. But it is so fanciful I dared not tell anybody but you.

She took a seat near Lady Anne's desk, and stared at her intently for a few moments.

STRENGTH
Without Overloading the Stomach

The business man, especially, needs food in the morning that will not overload the stomach but give mental vigor for the day.

Much depends on the start a man gets each day, as to how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand.

He can't be alert, with a heavy, fried-meat-and-potatoes breakfast requiring a lot of vital energy in digesting it.

A Western business man tried to find some food combination that would not overload the stomach in the morning, but that would produce energy.

He writes:

"For years I was unable to find a breakfast food that had nutrition enough to sustain a business man without overloading his stomach, causing indigestion and kindred ailments."

"Being a very busy and also a very nervous man, I decided to give up breakfast altogether. But luckily I was induced to try Grape Nuts."

"Since that morning I have been a new man; can work without tiring, my head is clear and my nerves strong and quiet."

I find four spoonfuls of Grape Nuts with one of sugar and a small quantity of cold milk, is delicious as the cereal part of the morning meal, and invigorates me for the day's business." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read the little book, "The Road to Well-being," in pkgs.

Forbidden Knowledge
Little Jack, aged five, had accompanied his mother on a trip to the City. They made the journey by tramcar.

Presently the conductor came round to collect the fares and on approaching little Jack, of course asked the usual question:

How old is the boy?
The mother informed him; then he passed on to the next passenger. But the lad who was the subject of the inquiry, sat quite still apparently pondering over something, until at last, concluding that full information had not been given, he called loudly to the conductor, now at the other end of the car:

And mother's thirty-five.

WILSON TAKES OATH

BRILLIANT SCENE MARKS THE INAUGURATION CEREMONY

New President of the United States, in his Inaugural Address, Made a Plea to All Honest, Patriotic Men, to Aid Him in the Guidance of Good Government.

Washington.—Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, was inaugurated March 4 as President of the United States, Thomas Marshall, of Indiana, as Vice-President; Democracy, the vehicle of their destiny. It was an intensely human precedent breaking inauguration.

With members of his chosen cabinet surrounding him, the justices of the Supreme Court before him, his wife and daughters dancing for joy on the platform below, and William Taft, ex-President at his side, the new President shouted a summons to all honest patriotic, forward looking men, to aid him, extending the promise that he would not fail them in the guidance of their Government.

While the President's concluding inaugural words were tossing in tumultuous waves of applause, the retiring President clasped his hand and enlisted as a patriot in the ranks of private citizenship.

Mr. President, said Mr. Taft, his face beaming with a smile, I wish you a successful administration and the carrying out of your aims. We will all be behind you.

Thank you, said President Wilson, as he turned to shake the hand of his Secretary of State, William Jennings Bryan. There they stood, Taft, standard bearer of a vanquished party after sixteen years of power; Bryan, persistent plodder of progressive Democracy, thrice defeated, accepting a commission from a new chieftain, and Wilson the man of the hour, victorious mustering as he expressed it, not the forces of the party but the forces of humanity.

It was a political picture far beyond imaginings of a few years gone by, a setting that stirred the souls of the assembled hosts, whose cheering at the scene seemed actually to reverberate from the distant Virginia hills.

The military and civic pageant that followed this climax of the day was more than five hours in passing. Leaving Capital Hill at two o'clock in the afternoon, the marching thousands had not doffed their colors to the President in the court of honor until long after darkness had followed. President Wilson stood for more than an hour under the glare of myriads of brilliant electric lights as he greeted the thousands in a long line, among them the hosts of Princeton who as they passed him, shouted a hearty greeting that he never can forget.

Ceremonies in the senate chamber which marked the dying of the sixty-second and the vitalizing of the new sixty-third congress, embracing the inauguration of Vice President Marshall, and the swearing in of the senators-elect, were never more impressive. Though delayed somewhat by the course of legislation, necessitating turning back half an hour the hands of the clock, the interest was tense. The procession into the chamber of the members of the House of Representatives, ambassadors and ministers of foreign countries in all their brilliant regalia, chief justices and justices of the supreme court in their sombre robes, the President-elect and President Taft, side by side, escorted by the members of the congressional inaugural committee was an awe inspiring spectacle.

JOURNALISTS COMING

Some Doubt in Britain as to Canadian Meeting

London.—Regarding the proposed meeting of the Institute of British Journalists in Canada next September, enquiries show that while the scheme hung fire for some time it is now likely that a successful gathering will result.

The present idea is to have two parties, one of those who can stay only a week of the actual sessions of the institute and the other for the more fortunate scribes who have leisure to take an extended holiday. The institute claims that the gathering ought to include the rank and file of members so that Canada may benefit from the visit of those who will actually write about it on their return home. Frankly though there are plenty of journalists who are wondering who is going to pay expenses for the rank and file members during the trip, is it going to be another free feed at Canada's expense and if not is the trip to be confined to those members of the institute who have a little money and even more leisure.

For All Red News Service

London.—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London are about to institute inquiries concerning the possibility of establishing a wholly British news service from England to Canada. The idea being the provision of such a service might stamp out fantastical inventions regarding royalty and British institutions generally which it is said are repeated from America into the smaller Canadian newspapers.

France's Naval Proposal

Paris.—The supreme war council presided over by President Poincaré, proposed exemptions for three years military service as the only means of assuring naval continuance. The decision was reached after a long and exhaustive examination into the military situation.

BUTTER TRADE TO UNITED KINGDOM

Interesting Figures in Report from the Canadian Commissioner

Ottawa.—The butter trade of the United Kingdom is made the subject of a highly interesting report to the trade and commerce department from W. J. Egan, Canadian trade commissioner at Manchester, England. Mr. Egan presents some facts which will prove rather surprising to most Canadians.

The movements of butter in the world's market are at the present time a most interesting study, says a quotation from the report. We would not have expected a few short years ago to find New Zealand butter being shipped in large quantities to Vancouver to be used in large towns of the west, or colonial butter to Montreal, or shipping cream to the United States or Holland, or Denmark and Finland shipping butter and cream to Germany. Yet, these are commonplaces of the butter trade in the year, 1912.

The increased importation of continental butter by Germany will in the general opinion of the trade here, Mr. Egan says, make great changes in the sources of supply, and a much reduced supply will consequently bring higher prices in the near future. It is hoped that the Eastern Canada will once more take up the butter proposition as an export article as the opportunity is here to secure a permanent market at high prices.

BALKANS AND TURKEY

Allied Governments Have Given Portals But Formal Word as to Mediation

London.—The diplomatic wheels are turning slowly in the Near East situation. Recently the formalities of communicating Turkey's request for mediation were completed at the capital of the Balkan league and the allied governments gave an identical reply—that they must first consult with each other.

Meanwhile, although more than a month has passed since the armistice was ended, military operations are practically in abeyance and Turkey's besieged fortresses, which were to fall in a few days, still holds out. The financial and economic results of this delay must be disastrous to the allies.

According to reports published at Vienna, the powers are at variance on the question of indemnity. It is said that Great Britain and France oppose the idea, while Russia favors it. It is supposed that Russia may have secretly advanced funds for war purposes to Bulgaria and therefore desires to see Bulgaria reimbursed by an indemnity.

A Belgrade despatch to the Daily Telegraph says siege guns are now in operation around Adrianople, but the heavy snowfalls prevent operations.

MEXICAN AMNESTY

All Persons Under Arms Freed Under Certain Conditions

City of Mexico.—The amnesty measure prepared by General Blanquet, military commander of the Federal district, absolving offenders of whatever kind received the approval of congress.

The measure includes all persons now under arms against the administration or in other manners fermenting a revolution, providing they put themselves in accord with the government within 15 days from the promulgation of decree. The measure of clemency so often offered by the Madero administration without result. It is generally believed that it will find more acceptances now backed as it is by the firm hand and warlike methods of President Huerta.

Say Women Plan Greatest Works of Revenge Yet

London.—According to the Standard, which has been giving the militant suffragettes freer access to its columns than has any other London paper, the women's past outrages are to be totally eclipsed by the new ones planned in the inner circle of the militant section.

Operations are promised that will stagger humanity.

Ramsay Macdonald, M.P., Broke Caste Rules in India

Madras, India.—The work of Ramsay Macdonald on the Public Service Commission, now sitting here, is said to have secured interesting results, one of which is the drawing together of the various classes of Indians. On two occasions Mr. Macdonald has been entertained at dinners given by Brahmins and attended by Brahmins of various sections—non-Brahmins, Christian Indians and Mohammedans. A well-known professor here states in this connection that in all his 30 years' experience in India he had never known such a dinner being held and that he had not thought it possible.

Sealing Ship Lost

GOVERNMENT TO ACT

WILL INTRODUCE MEASURES TO DEAL WITH SUFFRAGETTES

Mrs. Pankhurst, the Militant Leader, has Broken Down, but Others are Ready to Take up the Cudgels—in the Meantime, Britain gets no Rest.

London.—Mrs. Pankhurst, leader of the suffragettes has broken down completely. She has cancelled all engagements and has gone to the country for rest. This announcement was made at a suffragette meeting at Hampstead, where Mrs. Pankhurst was scheduled to speak. General Drummond took her place.

Mrs. Drummond no sooner began talking than a gang of students let loose quantities of snuff, starting everybody sneezing. A lively scuffle ensued. Chairs were broken, blows were exchanged and black eyes and bruises were numerous.

During a lull in the disorder, Mrs. Drummond advised all the municipal electors to vote against the London County Council progressive candidates as a protest against the conduct of Hon. John Burns, president of the local government board, who has denounced the suffragettes as tyrannical and their militant efforts as blackguardism.

John Burns spoke at a meeting at Islington. While guards were ejecting two disturbers, male supporters of the suffragettes, Mr. Burns said that such disturbers were the result of the stuff the newspapers had published. Later in his speech he said: The press of the country is imitating the American newspapers which have soiled against public men, so slandered them that few decent men are willing to go into political life in America. If the calumny continues, this country will end in neglect and corruption, for it will drive from public life the sensitive, kindly and respectable men who formerly sought to represent their fellow citizens.

It was announced later that Mrs. Pankhurst had gone to Paris for the rest cure. It is said that she will consult her daughter, Christabel, on the future of the militant movement in the event that she herself is committed to prison as the result of her trial at Old Bailey.

It is understood that the Government has decided to introduce two bills in Parliament at an early date as possible, dealing with the suffragettes' difficulty. The first will empower the Home Secretary to exercise the same licensing control over persons committed to prison as he now does over convicts. Thus a suffragette prisoner adopting the hunger strike will be sent to a hospital or a home until her health has been restored and would then be recommended to prison. This method would be repeated until the prisoner had served the full term in which the time out on license would not be counted.

The second bill will provide a better procedure for recovering fines and damages from suffragettes convicted of attacks on property and will otherwise modify the criminal law in the desired direction.

TO GET NAVAL OFFICERS

Admiralty Will Take British Public School Cadets

London.—In order to cope with the fresh demands made upon it for supplying officers for the Dominion battleship and the new requirements of the submarine and aerial service, the admiralty has made the announcement that a limited number of cadets will in future be taken from the public schools. The official estimate of the number of lieutenants likely to be wanted during 1916 and 1920, show that after allowing the supplementary sources of supply, there will still be a deficiency. The first competitive examination will take place in June and the successful candidates will be sent to a naval battleship for a course of instruction, and will be distributed as midshipmen. In view of their greater maturity, the same subsequent careers will be open to them as officers who entered through Osborne. They will be free to volunteer for service in any one branch.

For Police Women

New York.—Police women would give material aid in stamping out vice in New York. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont told the legislative committee investigating police conditions.

The appalling increase in the traffic in girls, Mrs. Belmont's opinion, was sufficient reason that something should be done to regulate the disorderly resorts and she declared that men, no matter how worthy or upright, are not qualified to deal with delinquent girls without the help of women.

Homeseekers Coming

Toronto.—About 500 persons went out on the first homeseekers excursion for western Canada on the C.P.R. They were practically all farmers from the settled parts of Ontario and in many cases took their families with them.

A great many other persons were going west and owing to the homeseekers excursion it was found necessary to send the regular 10.20 train out in two sections. One of thirteen cars and another of eleven cars.

HOW NINNIS AND MERTZ DIED

Dr. Mawson Sends Wireless Regarding Details of Fatalities

Sydney, N.S.W.—Details of the tragic ending of Lieut. B. E. S. Ninnis, of the Royal Fusiliers Regiment, and Dr. Xavier Mertz, champion ski-jumper of the world, who met death in the frozen South Polar regions while members of the Australian Antarctic expedition, were told in a wireless message received here from Dr. Douglas Mawson the leader of the expedition, who also suffered great hardship.

The wireless message received from Dr. Mawson, who is now in Adelle Land, says:

On December 4, 1911, while we were exploring a new coast line, 300 miles to the southeast of our winter quarters, Lieut. Ninnis, with a dog team and with almost all of our food, disappeared in an unfathomable crevasse.

Dr. Mertz and myself with an inadequate supply of provisions and with six starving dogs, then started over the plateau for our hut. Bad weather retarded our progress and we subsisted chiefly on dogs.

On January 17, 1912, Dr. Mertz died from malnutrition.

On February 7, I arrived at the hut alone, having travelled through snow and fog, and having miraculously been guided by Providence through the heavily crevassed areas.

The steamer Aurora waited at the base until the weather conditions made it no longer safe. She left a few hours before my arrival at the hut. Six men were left here by the Aurora to prosecute a search for the members of our party.

One Million for Friedman if he Cures Consumption

Rockville, Conn.—If he can cure consumption $1,000,000 will be paid to Dr. Freerich Friedman by the state of Connecticut according to an extraordinary offer made by State Tuberculosis Commissioner John Gunsham, of Hartford, in an address on public health before the Rockville Business men's Association meeting presided over by Lieutenant-Governor L. T. Tingle, of Vernon.

Continuing amid cheers, he said: If Dr. Friedman has the goods we've got the money. Our commission will be pleased to have Dr. Friedman come here and demonstrate his cure in our sanitariums, each of which is equipped with an up-to-date laboratory. There are 10,000 afflicted with this horrible disease in the state at the present time; 2,000 of these will be claimed by death before the end of the year, and I have the assurance of the most prominent members of the legislature that they will gladly appropriate the necessary money to save the lives of so many of our unfortunate citizens and restore them to health.

SOMETHING OF A TASK

Marriage Bill for Ontario Has Drastic Provisions

Toronto.—Dr. Godfrey has a marriage bill before the Legislature which will render subject to a fine of $500 a minister or person, who performs marriage while either of the parties is under the influence of liquor, or if he has reason to believe one of the parties is an idiot or insane. He shall also be liable to imprisonment, the period not exceeding twelve months.

The bill further provides that the issuer of the marriage license, if he has knowledge or reason to believe that either of the parties to the marriage is an idiot, insane, epileptic or imbecile shall require the applicant to leave with him a doctor's certificate to the effect that neither of the parties is deficient mentally, and if the applicant does not do so he is to refuse the license.

Newfoundland Will Participate in Defence of British Empire

St. John's, Newfoundland.—With a view to participate in the naval defence of the British Empire, the Newfoundland government has opened negotiations with the imperial cabinet. An announcement to that effect was made by the new governor, Walter Davidson, C.M.G., in the speech from the throne at the opening of the colonial legislature.

The governor also gave notice of the government's intention to remove the duty from tea, sugar and salted meats. This, it was declared, would represent the abrogation of $400,000 in duties annually, the largest reduction in taxation at one time in the colony's history.

Reason for Church Union

London, Ont.—The London Presbytery placed itself on record in favor of union with the Methodist and Congregationalists by unanimously carrying a motion, put forward by Mr. Thomas Alexander, asking the Presbytery to name a committee to look over the weak fields of the Presbytery to approaching the other denominations to consider the feasibility of union or of co-operation. A vigorous discussion followed, but the motion was passed unanimously.

A committee recommended that the peace manifesto of the New Westminster Presbytery be endorsed.

New Zealand's Wheat Crop

Sydney, N.S.W.—The acting statistician of New South Wales places the forthcoming crop of the state at 24,365,000 bushels. This is about 1,000,000 above the estimate of last year, but 700,000 below the final return of that crop. Hon. J. S. McGowan, premier of the state, however, anticipates a considerable increase on this estimate.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON XI.—FIRST QUARTER, FOR MARCH 16, 1913

Text of the Lesson, Gen. xlii, 1-13. Memory Verses 12, 13—Golden Text Hcs. vi, 6—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

In the last part of the previous chapter we saw Abraham dwelling at Beer-sheba, the well of the oath, having made a covenant with Abimelech. There he called on the name of Jehovah, and for the first time we have the name of the everlasting God, which carries us on to Ps. xc, 2; Isa. xl, 28. Every new name of God has some new revelation of Himself.

The everlasting God not only tells us that He is from everlasting to everlasting, but He loves with everlasting love and carries us in His everlasting arms and is always the same Jehovah. (Jer. xxxi, 3; Deut. xxxiii, 27). Whether He dresses us or tries us, He is the same God of love. For years the heart of Abraham had been made glad by this boy this beloved son for whom he had waited full twenty-five years, and now he is commanded to offer him for a burnt offering. There is nothing quite like this in all the Bible story. The demand seems overwhelmingly awful, but God is love, and God is faithful, and Abraham knew it. The New Testament record is that, knowing the promise and being certain that God would somehow fulfill it, even if He had to raise Isaac up from the dead, He did receive him from the dead in a figure (Heb. xi, 17-19).

After some twenty years Jacob received Joseph back as from the dead. God spared Isaac and Joseph, but He spared not His own son (Rom. viii, 32), and He being literally alive from the dead, all things are made sure to us in Him.

I cannot think that Abraham talked this over with Sarah; but being sure that he would bring the boy back again, he started off early in the morning, taking only two of his young men with him. His destination was Moriah which is now part of Jerusalem, the same hill that David fought from Ornan, the Jebusite where the destroying angel saved his hand when Jehovah said: It is enough, and where Solomon built the temple (II Sam. xiv, 16, 24, 25; II Chron. iii, 1).

How wonderful are the associations of truths and places in Scripture and how all center around the cross and the indescribable sacrifice of the Son of God! It was on the third day that the place was reached and the great transaction accomplished (verse 4), and how often a third day event calls our attention to the greater center of all past history and to the resurrection time, ever drawing nearer! Consider Jonah and the marriage in Cana and all others that you can find in the book.

Note the confidence with which Abraham says to the young men: I and the lad will go and worship and come again to you (verse 5). He was fully persuaded that it would be so. Now see the lad carrying the wood and the father with the fire and the knife, and verse 6. One cannot but see the Son of God bearing His cross and remember the words: It pleased the Lord to bruise Him; He hath put Him to grief (Isa. li, 10). It was the only way to save us and so wondrously foreshadowed in Abraham and Isaac.

Hear the lad as he says to his father: Behold the fire and the wood, but where is the lamb for a burnt offering? (verse 7). Oh, the anguish of the father's heart! But do we ever consider the anguish of the heart of God the Father?

What did he know of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world? (Rev. xlii, 8). Was it just then or when he placed the ram on the altar in Isaac's stead, or through the whole incident that he saw Christ's day and was glad? (John viii, 56).

Notice the repeated saying: They went both of them together (verses 5, 6, 8) reminding us of the other two went out of D. Kines II, 67-71, and suggesting perfect oneness and accord. We do not burden any residue on the part of Isaac as his father placed him on the altar upon the wood and bound him and took the knife to slay his son. We think of such words as "of his own voluntary will" "I lay down my life of myself" "delight to do Thy will O my God" (Lev. i, 3; John xv, 17, 18; Ps. xl, 8; Heb. x, 7-9); and we remember how the Lord Jesus gave Himself into the hands of His enemies and suffered them to take Him and bind Him and lead Him and mock Him and scourge Him and crucify Him and He took it all as a son which His Father gave Him to do.

It was enough. The child of promise was given back to God. Abraham saw God and not the child, and now the Lord speaks, the unfettered hand is stayed, and the ram is placed on the altar in Isaac's stead.

Isaac was spared and given back from the dead in a figure. God spared not His own Son and as truly as the ram died in Isaac's stead so did Jesus Christ die in our stead. His own self bore my sin in His own body on the tree, the Son of God laid down and gave Himself for me. He has made a covenant for us all who truly receive Him and delivered from the power of the law (I Pet. ii, 24; Gal. iii, 13). The Lord did see and provide—Isaac's death (verse 14 and preceding). What He has provided and provided. When He has provided, let us be free by grace (Rome iii, 24).

Do you think it right to rob Peter to pay Paul? If I happen to be Paul I do.

Acme Again Visited by Fire*Didsbury Man Loses $5000 Stock of General Merchandise

Another serious fire occurred at Acme on Friday morning last about 7 o'clock when the general store occupied by O. W. Hembling was found to be in flames. A general alarm was given, but as there is no means of fighting fires in the town and no organization of the residents, everything was destroyed but about $200 worth of goods out of a stock of $5,000 carried. The fire was caused by a stove exploding.

Mr. Hembling states that the contents were partially insured but that his loss will be between $1,500 and $2,000 after the insurance is adjusted.

The owner, who is well known in this district and who has his home in Didsbury where he conducted business for a good many years, will have the sympathy of the district in his loss, especially as he was one of the town Councillors who fought hard and secured better fire protection in Didsbury, which has proven and paid for itself many times over, even if it is a small outfit.

IMMIGRANTS AND CASH
FROM UNITED STATESThe Flow of Both Into This Country
Is Discussed by the Wall Street
Journal

American immigration to Canada is the subject of much consideration by the political and financial leaders in the American republic. The Wall Street Journal, the leading financial paper of the United States in discussing the question the other day said that over $775,000,000 is the amount, in money and effects, which has been brought into Canada from the United States alone in the last seven years. The journal anxiously asks: "Can this keep up?" There are two ways of answering this question.
The first is to refer the inquirer to the abundant statistics of the average yields of grain per acre for the past twenty years; from which it can be seen that the newcomer must be satisfied with his fortune. He can secure an average yield of wheat, for instance, fifty per cent. greater than in the United States with no greater labor, and at a much lower first cost for land. The second answer may be found in the "Wall Street Journal" itself. It gives the following table, which shows conclusively that the immigration of wealth into Canada has only well begun, judging from the enormous ratio of annual increase:

Cal. Year	Imm.	per cap. eff. & Cash	Total Value
1906	63,782	$ 809	$ 51,599,638
1907	56,687	885	50,167,995
1908	57,124	1,152	65,806,848
1909	90,996	811	73,797,758
1910	124,602	1,061	132,202,722
1911	131,114	1,539	201,784,446

The amount of land cultivated in Saskatchewan this year is equal to no more than the road allowances of the Province. There is, apparently, no reason to doubt that "this" will "keep up" for some time!

T.H. WESTERN HOGDomestic Animal in Which There
Is More Profit for the West

J. C. Rutherford says that of the domestic animals the hog is by far the most generally profitable and adds: "It is to be regretted that in a country so well adapted to his requirements as are these Western Provinces, his supply is altogether inadequate to the demand. Of the hog products consumed in these provinces only a small fraction is of local origin, the great bulk being imported either from Eastern Canada or the United States. If packers and produce merchants can, after paying the price of origin, plus the cost of transportation, sell pork and pork products at a profit to the people and often to the farmer of the west, there must be an excellent opportunity to make money out of raising hogs for the home market.
With the abundance of cheap feed always procurable in this country and the other favorable conditions there is absolutely no reason why a single pound of pork or any other hog product should ever be bought outside the west. All varieties of swine thrive and well on the western farm. Swine from Eastern Canada generally pass the improved Yorkshire, the Tamworth or a cross between one of the breeds and the Berkshire. The Tamworth as a rule, prefers the long-sided and type now generally bred in Ohio.
In response to his suggestions, he cannot afford to be too particular and is glad to pay a good price for well finished hogs of any breed. A hog is known in Ireland as the getman who pays the rent, and while the farmer here is, as a rule, fortunate in having no rent to pay, he has at times other charges to provide for the liquidation of which the revenue from the pig-pen might often be found useful."

Meat packing with its various branches is one of the basic industries to every factory community. It lies in the establishment of various other industries dependent upon and related to it and in that way promotes effectively diversified pursuits throughout Canada.

A factory where grain measurement will be manufactured will be established at Sutherland, Sask.

The population of the province constituted of Camrose, Alta., increased from 1,375 to 10,412 in ten years.

That Fellow Feeling

Outside a busy fishmonger's stood a large ice cart. The driver was inside the shop, but on a block of ice sat a small boy, with comfort writ large upon his face.

'Ere gitoutoff!! yelled he man, all in one word, as he suddenly appeared from the shop.

Then the small boy lifted his face, now charged with sadness.

Was you ever a boy? he asked ungrammatically.

Of course I was, came the reply, but—

And did you ever stop away from school?

Yes—

And when you got home did yer farver ever get his belt and—

Then it dawned on the big and burly ice-man.

You stop just where you are, my little man, he said genially. I quite understand.

With so thorough a preparation at hand as Miller's Worm Powders the mother who allows her children to suffer from the ravages of worms is unwise and culpably careless. A child subjected to the attacks of worms is always unhealthy and will be stunted in its growth. It is a merciful act to rid it of these destructive parasites, especially when it can be done without difficulty.

COCKSHUTT DRILLS

ARE OF PROVED SUPERIORITY

SPARKLING WATER, cool and sweet, refreshes the farmer who builds a

Concrete Well or Tank

THE FARMER, above all others, appreciates good water. He drinks more water than the city man. The city-dweller is dependent upon the public water-supply for the purity of his water, while the farmer can have his own private source of water, and thus be sure that it is pure and healthful.

MAN hasn't found a better drink than cool water, properly collected and stored. But in order to keep water fresh and pure, a tank or well casing that will keep out every possible impurity must be used.

CONCRETE IS THE IDEAL MATERIAL FOR TANKS AND WELL-CASINGS.

IT is absolutely water-tight, protecting your water from seepage of all kinds. It cannot rot or crumble. It is easily cleaned inside. Time and water, instead of causing it to decay, actually make it stronger.

OUR Farmers' Information Department will help you to decide how to build anything, from a porch-step to a silo. The service is free—you don't even have to promise to build. When in doubt ask the Information Department.

Canada Cement Company Limited

THERE are scores of other uses for concrete on your farm—on every farm. If you would like to know of them, write for our book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete." The book is absolutely free.

WHEN you go to buy cement be sure that this label is on every bag and barrel. Then you know you are getting the cement that the farmers of Canada have found to be the best.

Victor and Vanquished

Past stall after stall went the rich merchant, followed by a footman in smart livery. It was the annual village bazaar, and the rich man had been roped in by force of circumstances.

Ah, Mr. Fitzbrendon, said a really sweet and charming lady at one of the stalls, and what are you going to buy? Dear old auntie and I are running this table, and we have home-made cakes, aprons, penwipers, and—

Yes, said F., and I'll buy just one of each.

But do you sell kisses at your stall?

Oh, certainly! came the ready reply. One guinea each.

Right! replied the autocrat. Then I'll take a couple—and good measure please.

Aunt, remarked the fair and dainty damsel, forward, please. Two kisses for this gentleman!

For a moment the man of means and money was nonplussed, but only for a moment. Then he turned to his servitor:

James, he said coolly, just take this purchase, please.

A Medical Need Supplied.—When a medicine is found that not only acts upon the stomach, but is so composed that certain ingredients of it pass unaltered through the stomach to find action in the bowels, then there is available a purgative and a cleanser of great effectiveness. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are of this character and are the best of all pills. During the years that they have been in use they have established themselves as no other pill has done.

The case had reached a critical stage and even the judge seemed to awaken to a live interest in the proceedings, for the most important witness was about to be cross-examined.

So you are the lady's maid? began the relentless barrister.

Yes, sir.

And where were you at 7 o'clock on the evening in question?

I was in my lady's room, sir.

For what purpose?

I was dressing my lady's hair, sir.

The barrister leaned forward and spoke very slowly and impressively.

Now think, he said. I want you to be very careful in answering this question: Was or was not your mistress in the room at the time?

His Opinion of Them

An heirloom, explained the farmer, is something that has been handed down from father to son and in some cases is greatly prized.

I'd prize these heirlooms I'm wearing, remarked the youngster, a good deal more if they wasn't so long in the legs.

Waiting for an Answer

We asked some months ago whether paper collars are still worn. No one vouchsafed to answer. It is our impression that the celluloid drove out the paper. We well remember the paper collar and the paper dicky.

Cool Burgess used to sing of Hildebrand Montrose:

He parts his hair with extreme care—And chalks his paper collars.

But the paper collar, once worn, was an accomplished fact, something to be forgotten; while the celluloid like the enamelled steel collar of the civil war period can be cleaned.

The steel collar was at regular intervals refreshed by use of a tooth brush.

An Inspiring Model

Little Johnnie, having in his possession a couple of bantam hens, which laid very small eggs, suddenly hit on a plan. Going the next morning to the fowl-run, Johnnie's father was surprised to find an ostrich egg tied to one end of the beams, and above it a card, with the words: Keep your eye on this and do your best.

Post Toasties

for breakfast and again at the evening meal opens and closes the day with a dash of sunshine.

Toasties are bits of hard, white Indian Corn, first carefully cooked, then rolled thin and crinkly, and toasted to a delicate, appetizing brown.

Not a hand touches the food in manufacture, and it is ready to serve direct from the package—to be eaten with cream or milk—and sugar, if desired.

Post Toasties taste deliciously good and are richly nourishing.

THE SECRET OF GIRLISH BEAUTY

The Blood Must be Kept Rich and Pure, and the Nerves Properly Nourished.

Every parent of a growing girl and every young woman who looks after herself, should be constantly on the watch for symptoms of impoverished blood. Girls in their teens should not be pale, languid and constantly fatigued. Nature intended them to be bright, energetic and active. The happiness of a lifetime depends upon giving the blood the help it needs. At this time, when girls are too frequently allowed to overstudy, overwork or suffer from lack of exercise.

The symptoms of impoverished blood are unmistakable. They are languidness, pale, sallow complexion, shortness of breath, violent palpitation of the heart, particularly on going up stairs, poor appetite, dizziness and headaches, and a tendency to faint. These symptoms of course are not all found in every case, but the more the victim has of them the greater progress has the trouble made and the more imperative is the necessity to at once begin to check it, through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which bring back the glow of health and energy to every part of the body. The case of Miss Jeanie Fraser, Hamilton, Ont., offers proof of this. She says: "For about eighteen months I was in a very bad state of health and thoroughly run down. I had no appetite and suffered from most of the symptoms of anaemia. I went to a local doctor and received treatment from him for three months, and although I took bottle after bottle of medicine I was steadily growing worse, and I got so down-hearted and depressed that I felt I would never get better. At this time I read the case of a young lady whose symptoms were similar to my own, who had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to try them. By the time I had used three boxes my appetite had improved and I was feeling more encouraged. I continued the use of the Pills for a time longer and my health was fully restored."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Good friend, if fate should but bestow Upon, we'll say, a man like you, The problems I have mentioned, oh! What would you do? What would you do?

WINNIPEG DRUGGIST ENDORSES SANOL REMEDIES

SANOL AND SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES EFFECT WONDERFUL CURES

Below is given a copy of a letter from a prominent Winnipeg Druggist. This is but typical of the many we receive, advising of the great demand for SANOL and SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES, and the many cures these sterling remedies effect.

The Sanol Manufacturing Co., Winnipeg.

Dear Sirs,—

In regard to the sale of SANOL and SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES I might say I have been handling the goods for about three months. I was obliged to put in SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES to supply one of my customers, who now is completely cured and whom, I believe, has sent a testimonial to your office. Another customer ordered SANOL, and I was obliged to stock it. This gentleman was so well satisfied that he has sent bottles to his friends. Up to this time I had never really taken much interest in the preparations, but when customer after customer would come in and tell us about what SANOL had done for them I came to the conclusion it would be worth my while getting behind SANOL and recommending it to my customers. This I have done, and I have heard nothing but words of praise for SANOL and recommending it to my customers. This I have done, and I have heard nothing but words of praise for SANOL and SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES. I am,

Yours truly,

You can say good-bye to constipation with a clear conscience if you use Chamberlain's Tablets. Many have been permanently cured by their use. For sale by all dealers.

W. C. T. U.

The ladies' debate on Monday afternoon under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. was well attended.

The subject, "Resolved that the franchise withheld is an injustice to Canadian womanhood," was decided in favor of the affirmative speakers.

The arguments on either side were well prepared and contained much that was of interest to the attentive audience.

The critical treatment of the conduct of the British suffragette by the negative leader was both striking and humorous, but was rather more of a death blow to the methods employed than to the actual end in view.

Many sufferers from rheumatism have been surprised and delighted with the prompt relief offered by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Not one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. This liniment is for sale by all dealers.

"Father," said the young man, "I cannot tell a lie."
"In that case," sighed the old man, "I don't believe you will ever attract any attention politically."
